48TH VFW CONCLAVE OPENS AT CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4—Overseas caps dotted downtown streets in the thousands today, worn by veterans of three American wars here for speeches, post-war problem study and uninhibited fun.

It was the first day of the 48th encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and National Encampment Director Joseph Nagel said possibly 60,000 delegates and guests would show up by week's end. This figure would shatter previous attendances.

The sessions got a send-off this morning in an address by Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, president of the war personnel board, before a joint session of the VFW and auxiliary encampments, and business sessions and talks will continue on through tonight.

Top speaker of the day is Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal, who is flying here from Washington to speak at a banquet for Louis E. Starrof Portland,

Steubenville Rules Pinball Machines Are Against Law

By Brush-Moore News Service

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 4—Prosecutor C. James Borkowski today declared that pinball machines are illegal, warning that his office will prefer criminal charges against owners of establishments in which they are exhibited.

Classifying the machines as gambling devices, Borkowski ordered their removal by Sept. 25. He said the advance warning was issued because proprietors of many establishments have allowed the marble games installed, laboring under the mistaken impression that the machines are legal.

Borkowski said he was confident the machines are illegal and that exhibitors can be prosecuted. He said he based his decision on a thorough study of state statutes pertaining to gambling devices and gave careful examinations of some recent state supreme court rulings.

Borkowski claimed there was no difference between pinball and slot machines, stating that both came under the same category. He also ruled that machines can be confisticated and destroyed.

AKRON LEADS IN POLIO CASES

City Hit by 170 with Other Ohio Communities Sending Aid.

By The Associated Press

Of all Ohio cities Akron has been most heavily hit by infantile paralysis this year showing more than 170 cases reported in 1947 with all except 44 still receiving treatment.

Youngstown, where three mild cases are under treatment, has sent six cribs and a respirator to aid Akron. The Mahoning county infantile paralysis chapter made them available.

A new death was reported in the Cleveland area when the coroner's office yesterday said that 8-year-old Cornell R. Ramba died of polio.

Report First Cases

Fremont, Painesville, and Suffield township in Portage county reported their first cases, all mild, yesterday.

At Painesville, two girls are ill, compared to 12 victims last year.

Cincinnati, with no deaths compared to six last year, has 49 cases reported to date compared with 46 in 1946.

At Toledo seven cases are under treatment, none regarded serious.

Despite the large number of Akron cases, schools opened there on schedule yesterday. Superintendent Otis C. Hatton said public health authorities advised the opening.

Akron children's hospital reported 122 cases, including 32 cases being treated in a nearby church.

Dr. P. H. Harris, chief of the communicable diseases division of the state health department, reported that the state-wide total so far reported to the department was 230 as of yesterday. This compared with 318 on the same date last year, 183 on the same date in 1945, and 504 on the same date in the record year 1944.

New Reports Received

Dr. Harris said a number of new reports had been received from Akron today but had not been tabulated yet. So far a total of 66 have been reported officially from Summit county, of which Akron is the county seat.

So far 39 new cases have been reported all over the state for September, he said.

Cuyahoga county is second to Summit in the number of cases so far, with 36. Franklin county has 20, Hamilton county 19, Lucas 13, and Montgomery 12, Dr. Harris said.

The state division of vital statistics said three polio deaths had been reported through June 30, the latest date in its records. There were seven in the first six months of 1946.

MARSHALL TO MAKE DECISION ON CONGRESS

Will Decide in Two Weeks Whether To Recommend Special Session.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 — Secretary of State Marshall is expected to decide within the next two weeks whether to recommend a special session of congress for emergency action on the European economic crisis.

Marshall's decision, officials said today, probably will be made shortly after George F. Kennan, the secretary's top policy planner, returns from Paris with the latest information from European officials and American authorities there.

The final decision would be up to President Truman. He has said several times that he would not hesitate to recall the lawmakers if the situation required such a step.

Back from Rio

Marshall himself is just back from the Rio de Janeiro conference of inter-American defense and is scheduled to appear with Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich) on a 30-minute radio broadcast at 9:30 tonight to report to the nation on the work of the conference. The American and Mutual networks will carry the program.

It appeared certain that once that chore is completed Marshall's attention will be largely devoted to the European crisis. Shortly before the cabinet officer's return by plane to Washington yesterday afternoon, Undersecretary of State Lovett told a news conference that the situation in Europe is getting rapidly worse.

Lovett said he feels certain that before the end of this year the United States will be compelled to face the hard facts of European necessity. He made it clear that reports from American observers at Paris have presnted the crisis as much worse than the American government previously had calculated.

Dollar Supply Dwindles

The main trouble appears to be that with a shortage of materials essential for continued existence—chief among them grains—European nations are confronted with a dangerously dwindling dollar supply with which to stave off economic collapse. The things they urgently need require heavy dollar expenditures.

In time, officials explained, the Marshall plan, assuming it wins approval from congress, would relieve the acute dollar shortage and at the same time enable the European countries to promote their reconstruction and build up exports so they would begin to become self-supporting.

But it is the problem of time which is at the core of the whole crisis and which, according to Lovett's analysis, confronts the American government with a need to consider emergency action.

Truman Charged With "Creating" European Crises

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) contended today President Truman is creating "synthetic" international crises for political purposes.

A consistent critic of administration foreign policy, Bender said the President "is trying to create a situation in which his cohorts will argue that we should not change the Democratic mule in midstream."

"I can see only one purpose to Mr. Truman's present course in foreign affairs," Bender said. "That is the political purpose of moving from one international crisis to another in order to establish himself as a leader who should not be abandoned in the midst of a virtual state of war."

Orders Another Inquiry

The Ohio lawmaker added that he has asked Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee to undertake a thorough investigation of what he called "the Truman doctrine" and "the Truman-Marshall doctrine."

Several congressional committees, including a special group composed of members of the appropriations and armed services committees, already have begun investigations abroad into both the Marshall plan for European recovery and the Greek-Turkish program designed to block Com-

Rep. Jones Just Plain "Mr." Today in Lull Between Jobs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—Rep. Robert Jones, Republican of Lima, O., became plain Mr. Jones today.

He resigned his house seat to accept appointment by President Truman to be a member of the federal communications commission.

Justice Burton of the supreme court will administer the oath to Jones for his new job tomorrow.

But today Jones enjoyed being a private citizen without a title.

He didn't loaf however. Dressed in overalls he spent long hours at the capitol going over eight years of congressional correspondence.

Jones' term with the communications commission is for seven years. The senate confirmed him after a committee criticized Drew Pearson, the columnist, for saying that Jones once was a member of the Black Legion.

Jones denied the statement and said he had never belonged to any "subversive organization." He said before his confirmation that he would consider legal action against Pearson.

Once known as the "boy prosecutor" of Allen county, O., Jones was in his early 30's when he came to congress. He's 40 now.

Sharp Administration Critic

Jones gained considerable attention during his service in congress because of his activities for economy in government and because of his sharp criticism of both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

President Truman nominated the Ohioan to fill a Republican vacancy on the commission. The choice was a surprise. The President withdrew another nomination in favor of Jones.

It was shortly after that that Pearson criticized Jones in radio broadcasts and in his syndicated column.

Justice Burton, senator from Ohio until his appointment to the high court by President Truman, will administer the oath in the hearing room of the commission, which has offices in the post office department building in the federal triangle.

Jones will begin his new job at once, the commission having scheduled a meeting on the same day that he takes office.

Ohio Concern Holds Bag As Texans Feud Over Parking Meters

By The Associated Press

GILMER, Tex. Sept. 4—That Ohio outfit better come get their parking meters—that's what all the feuding is about in this east Texas town.

The city put 'em up and the county took 'em down.

On May 1, the city had meters installed in Gilmer. Ninety went up around the courthouse square.

The commissioners bridled.

"This courthouse square," said they, "is county property. The city can't come on county property putting up parking meters."

On Labor Day road gangs, under orders from the commissioners, tore out the meters with sledgehammers and filled the holes with concrete. The meters, valued at $6,000, were heaped in the courthouse basement.

Mayor Horace V. Davis, claiming the county officials never had made any official protest about the meters, announced yesterday:

"Someone is going to pay for the meters that have been battered around and perhaps hopelessly damaged."

The Karpark Corporation of Cincinnati, O., installed the meters on a one year trial basis, he said. The corporation still owns the meters—it was to receive 75 per cent of the revenue until the purchase price was met.

And today the city had only one announcement.

"The next move is up to the Karpark Corporation."

Z. B. HOUGHTON HOME SWEPT BY FLAMES

Lightning Ignites Property of Former Marion Couple.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Z. B. Houghton of near Central Lake, Mich., was gutted by fire during an electrical storm which struck that vicinity shortly after noon Monday. Lightning, which hit a telephone pole in front of the house, is believed to have followed a transmitter into the dwelling. Many valuable heirlooms and antiques, including china and silver, were destroyed.

Dr. and Mrs. Houghton, former residents of Marion, were at their cabin on Immediate lake, a short distance from their farm, and were notified of the fire by neighbors. The blaze was extinguished by water from a trout stream on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson E. Pickerel of Forest street, who with Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark of the Claridon pike were spending a vacation at Central lake and other points in Michigan, arrived at the farm shortly after the blaze was brought under control, to say goodbye to Dr. and Mrs. Houghton before leaving for home.

The damage to the building and contents is covered by insurance and Dr. Houghton expects to start repairs immediately.

Nation's Newest Heat Wave Begins To Buckle

By The Associated Press

The nation's heat belt, centering in the southwest and extending from the Dakotas to Texas, began to buckle today as a mass of cool air overspread the northern Rockies and started moving eastward over the northern tier of states.

Temperatures which yesterday soared into the 100's in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma were expected to touch near the 100 mark again today, but federal forecasters expected near normal readings by tomorrow. They said the cooler weather will reach the upper and middle Mississippi valley today and the Great Lakes and Ohio valley tomorrow.

New records for the date were set in many communities in the heat belt yesterday. Manhattan, Kans., reported an unofficial high of 117, while the weather bureau said the hottest spot on its map was Concordia, Kans., with a sizzling 112.

Candidate Calls For Quick Special Election

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4—A candidate for congress in the Fourth district called on Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today to call a special election immediately. The governor commented:

"I will release the date as soon as it it determined."

The request for quick action came in a telegram from Dewey Fetter, Allen county Republican executive committee chairman. Fetter, in the race to succeed Rep. Robert F. Jones, of Lima, resigned, declared the time for holding a special primary and then an election was growing short.

He asserted that the people in the Fourth district should be given sufficient time to become acquainted with the candidates; that adequate time should be allowed for printing ballots.

Fetter also asked the governor to explain his delay in calling a special primary and election to name a successor to Congressman Jones.

Herbert has indicated he wished to talk further with Republican leaders before setting a date for the elections.

ERIE ORDERS ELEVEN DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4—The Erie Railroad placed orders today with three locomotive builders for the purchase of 11 diesel-electric switching locomotives for yard service, at an estimated cost of $1,050,000, according to an announcement by R. E. Woodruff, Erie president.

The orders covered ten 1,000 h.p. and one 660 h.p. switchers, four of which will be assigned to Cleveland, four to Meadville, Pa., two to Salamanca, N. Y., and one to Leavittsburg, O.

Five of the 1,000 h.p. locomotives were awarded to American Locomotive Company at Schenectady, N. Y., two to Baldwin at Eddystone, Pa., and three to Electro-Motive Division of General Motors Corporation at LaGrange, Ill. The one 660 h.p. switcher was also awarded to Electro-Motive.

Delivery is expected about the middle of 1948.

This is part of an $8,000,000 new equipment program recently authorized by the Erie board of directors, which includes 700 50-ton box cars, 1,000 50-ton hoppers and 100 70-ton covered hoppers. Orders for the freight cars will be placed in about two weeks.

HUNGARIAN CABINET QUITS

HUBER STARTS NEW FOUNDRY

Part of Long Range Building Program; To Increase Capacity.

Another step in a long range building program at the Huber Manufacturing company has been initiated with start of construction of a new foundry at the plant, according to Don A. Howard, company president and general manager. Construction of the new foundry, which started last week, follows that of a new factory building started in 1945 and completed about a year ago.

"A new foundry has been needed by the Huber company for many years," Mr. Howard said. "Our present foundry was erected about 60 years ago, and is inadequate to meet the present need for better facilities. The old foundry is located at one side of the plant while the new building is on the other."

The new foundry, which is expected to be completed and in operation by Jan. 1 at a cost of from $90,000 to $100,000 is located directly east of the new building on the George street side of the plant grounds. Dimensions of the foundry building are 110 by 240 feet. It is to be of steel and sash construction and faced to harmonize with the new building.

Capacity of the new foundry was said by Mr. Howard to be approximately twice that of the present foundry and will permit greater expansion of manufacturing facilities when needed. Mr. Howard pointed out, however, that the foundry was being built "for our own use only and that the Huber company has no plans to enter the commercial field in the production and sale of castings."

The new foundry will be equipped with such new facilities as are needed plus a part of the equipment from the present foundry that has been acquired in recent years.

Construction work is being done by the George Dysart company of Columbus.

Vets' Bond Cashing Drops Off 2nd Day

Cashing of terminal leave bonds eased off considerably in Marion yesterday. According to figures available at banks and loan association offices, 168 veterans turned bonds in for $36,471.81 in cash.

One of the three banks reported that they didn't keep a check yesterday but the number of veterans was considerably lower after the first day.

The number given for yesterday brings the total to 837 ex-servicemen cashing bonds for $177,502.81.

Veterans are still drifting in to cash bonds today, but business in all banks and federal loan offices has returned to normal.

STAGGERS OUT OF WOODS TO REVEAL WRECK

Badly Injured Man, Unconscious 40 Hours, with 3 Dead Nearby.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., Sept. 4—Charles Gorman, 22, only one of four passengers to escape death in the crash of a Dayton-bound airplane still is in a serious condition, but improving, at McKitrick hospital here.

Physicians reported his condition to be somewhat better at noon today. He appears to be a little stronger and took his first food this morning, they said. He was given blood plasma on his admission to the hospital yesterday afternoon.

A three-day search for the missing plane ended about 1:30 p. m. yesterday when Gorman staggered and crawled three-quarters of a mile from the wreck scene to the farm home of Walter Getz of state route 53, six miles northeast of Kenton.

Gorman, unconscious in the wreckage of the plane for about 40 hours and trapped by the body of one of the victims, mumbled that it took him "about 400 years" to crawl from the wreck scene to the Getz home.

A hero of a wartime air raid on the Ploesti oil fields in Romania, he is suffering from a broken left arm, possible internal injuries, and from shock and bruises. Physicians said his condition was fair.

"I was saved, but I don't know why," he said. "If I hadn't got out of the plane, they never would have found us."

As Gorman crawled up to the porch of the Getz home yesterday he said "Send someone right out after them," he gasped before he collapsed. "But I think they're all dead."

Gorman Rushed to Hospital

An ambulance was summoned and rushed Gorman to the hospital. Sheriff R. R. Payne led a searching party to an isolated woods about three-quarters of a mile from the Getz home and found the bodies of the three victims and the wreckage of the plane.

They were identified as Mrs. Raymond Stotts, wife of the manager of the South Dayton airport; Muriel Talbot, 20, socially prominent Dayton debutante, and William Stroop, 22, pilot of the plane and scion of a wealthy Dayton family. Stroop was a former U. S. Army pilot.

The plane had been the object of a wide search since Monday night when it disappeared shortly after taking off from Cleveland where Gorman and his companions had attended the National Air Races.

The plane crashed during a severe electrical storm. The wrist watch of one of the victims was stopped at 8:10 p. m. and officials set that as the time of the crash. Gorman said they were flying at an altitude of about 1,500 feet when the plane hit a downdraft and plunged into the forest.

Gorman, who spent nine months in a German prison camp after his plane was shot down over the Ploesti oilfields, said he believed he was unconscious from the moment of the impact until Wednesday morning.

His first impression was of severe pain, he said. When he regained his senses fully, he realized his companions were dead.

He said the body of one of the women was lying across him and he was so weak from loss of blood he was unable to push it away. He wriggled free of the wreckage about noon and struck out for the Getz home which he could see from the scene of the wreck.

Mrs. Lulu Kibner, who lives nearby, saw Gorman from a distance as he staggered across the field.

"He'd go a step and then fall down," she said. "Then he'd get up and go on a little farther."

She said she didn't know anything about the wreck and didn't suspect anything was the matter with him. She thought it was someone cutting weeds, she explained.

Mind "Blacksout"

Gorman said his mind blacked out after he wriggled free of the wreckage and he could remember staggering across the field only vaguely.

He told his wife, father and stepmother who visited him at the hospital that he remembered climbing a fence and crawling over a ditch during his painful trek to the farmhouse.

"It seemed to take about 400 years to crawl to the farmhouse porch," he said.

State highway patrolman found the body of Stroop, the pilot, 25

VA Hospitals Conduct Sports Meets by Wire

Telegraphic tournaments have created a new zest for sports activities among hospitalized war veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

Keen interest in various sports has developed among hundreds of veterans confined to the nine Veterans Administration hospitals in the area as a result of tri-state competition.

The telegraphic meets are conducted at the hospitals during a specified week each month. The results are wired to the VA's Branch Office in Columbus, O. The special services division compiles the standings and relays them to the competing hospitals so that each team knows how it is progressing in the tournament.

Telegraphic tournaments are conducted in 13 sports activities, including track and field events, swimming, softball, archery, horseshoes, golf, shuffle board, darts, ring toss, croquet, red-ball, basketball and wheel-chair racing. All patients must be medically authorized to take part in any of these events.

Team trophies and individual awards are given to the winning hospitals on a three-month championship basis.

The telegraphic meets have developed eager enthusiasm, convalescent assistance and a higher morale among the hospitalized veterans, VA officials report.

The nine VA hospitals are located at Cleveland, Brecksville, Dayton and Chillicothe, O.; Ft. Custer and Dearborn, Mich., and Lexington, Louisville and Outwood, Ky.

VA Tells How Final Subsistence Is Paid

Veterans whose education or training is interrupted in the middle of a month should not expect their final subsistence payments for four or five weeks afterwards, Veterans Administration Branch Office officials in Columbus explained today.

VA officials sad that most veterans' accounts are on a current basis during their training, but those whose training is halted in the middle of a month usually receive subsistence payments 30 to 45 days from the date of the official termination of that training. All records of a veteran's interrupted training must be received before an account may be certified for payment.

Veterans are asked to notify VA immediately if their training or schooling is interruupted or if there is any other change in training status.

Good Housekeeping Found Best Way To Prevent Fires

This is one of a series of hints on ways to prevent fires. They are prepared by members of the fire prevention committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce for publication in The Star.

Good housekeeping is the only way to prevent the outbreak of fire in piles of waste and rubbish. The fault may not be yours, but your plant—your house may be destroyed, and your work, your home, even your life brought to an end.

A little thought will save a plant, a home and lives, and a lot of money if good housekeeping is practiced.

Fire is not an act of God—it is an act of man — woman — and child.

Prospect Street Church Service Guild Meets

A potluck supper was held by members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Prospect Street Methodist church Tuesday night at the church, with 17 members and one guest, Miss Linda Call, present.

Miss Marian Gooding, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Carroll Schmidt. Plans for a rummage sale in the near future were discussed and Miss Ruth Schott reported on the progress of estimates for additional plumbing in the basement of the church. An announcement was made that the dresses that are to be sewed by the group for the Methodist Children's Home are to be brought to the next meeting. It was decided to have a cosmetic demonstrater at the November meeting.

Devotions, in charge of Miss Schott, were on the subject, "Ye Shall Know the Truth, and the Truth Shall Make You Free." Scripture was read by Mrs. John Boyd, two hymns were sung by the group, and prayer was given by Miss Schott. The program topic, "The Child and His Education Today," was discussed by Mrs. Joe Mehaffey.

Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Wilbur Flach and Mrs. Everett Sanderson.

Michigan, an inland state, has a shoreline larger than any other state in the union.

Elephant-Hunting Pygmy Tribe Fears Nothing but White Man

By The Associated Press

WARE, Mass., Sept. 4—A tribe of elephant-hunting pygmies who can run as fast as a deer and climb trees with a monkey's agility is still hiding out from the white man in the Belgian Congo.

Rev. Pierre L'Heureux, 35-year-old American missionary with the Order of White Fathers, brought the latest reports of the strange little people on his return here after eight years in Africa.

The pygmies, ranging in height from four feet, four inches to four feet, eight inches, were described by the priest as a jolly, carefree lot who spend all of their time hunting.

"They are a nomadic tribe who do not cultivate the land or grow anything," he said. "All they want to do is hunt. They barter their bag with other natives for food."

The little men, he said, are "completely fearless of everything in the wild jungle country—except white men."

Needs Go-Between

"The only way I was able to approach them was through the chief of another native tribe," said Father L'Heureux. "Once assured I meant them no harm, they proved a friendly people."

The Ware priest said the pygmies used poisonous arrows and spears in their elephant hunts, which are a ritual with them.

"They wound an elephant with an arrow and then move so swiftly the elephant does not know where the next attack is coming from," he said. "It's amazing the way they can hide in the undergrowth.

"Once an elephant has been attacked, one of the pygmies will jump on its hind legs—holding on with one hand while using the other to cut into the hide with a sharp piece of metal until he cuts a tendon.

"Then they finish off the elephant with spears and cut it open—walking into the carcass as if it were a tent."

Likes Hunting As Sport

Father L'Heureux said the pygmie tribe — numbering about 6,000 — seems to enjoy hunting as a sport as well as a means of existing and that the tribesmen know the wild animals better than any of the other natives.

The skin of the Congo pygmies around Lake Albert, he said, is a brownish yellow—not as dark as the other African natives They have jet black kinky hair and wear few ornaments.

They live in primitive huts made of tree branches and leaves—so loosely constructed that they keep out neither sun nor rain.

"All they want to do is to roam the jungles," said the missionary. "They are complete lovers of liberty but want no part of civilization."

Father L'Heureux said he first ran across the pygmies while on an automobile ride with a native chief.

"We were about 25 miles from the native village," he said. "When the pygmies saw me they vanished into the jungles as if into thin air.

"The chief with me knew their language and called to one of them, who happened to be the pygmy chief. He asked him to gather other members of the tribe and meet us at the village.

"We drove back about 30 miles an hour. When we got there, hundreds of pygmies were already waiting for us, with their drums."

Father L'Heureux said the pygmies probably knew about the war, but "it meant very little to them."

The Ware priest is one of only 28 Americans in the White Fathers, an international order of 2,600 missionaries with headquarters in Alexandria, North Africa.

The order has been largely supported by European countries, Father L'Heureux said, but now plans to open a college this fall in Belleville, Ill.

During the war, the White Fathers, who wear a habit resembling the dress of an Arab with a red fez, helped in recruiting more than 100,000 native troops in Africa and served in the field with them as chaplains. There is one native bishop in the order — Bishop Joseph Kiwanuka.

Park Recreation Program Now in Closing Week

The city recreation program at four parks is in its last week this week. Attendance apparently passed its peak several weeks ago, as playground director Joseph Petrich's report shows a decrease for the past two weeks.

Total attendance for the tenth week was 3,878 and the total attendance for the eleventh was 2,969. Lincoln park was closed Friday, partially because of low attendance and also because W. N. Wiley, director at McKinley left for a vacation and Petrich, who handles Lincoln, took over at McKinley.

The tenth week's attendance by parks was, Lincoln 651, Garfield 1,290, McKinley 1,537 and Silver 400.

Attendance last week was Lincoln 480, Garfield 1.187, McKinley 980 and Silver 322.

The beaver has two kinds of hair. Its under hair is short, thick, silky and of great commercial value, but its upper hair is long and coarse and is removed before the skins are placed on the market.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Fungous Infection

Fungous infections of all kinds flourish in the tropics and in consequence, many of our service men returned with skin diseases such as ringworm of the feet, ringworm of the groin and so-called jungle sores

Once established in the skin, the fungi or tiny parasitic organisms, which cause these ailments, are difficult to get rid of. A great deal of interest was shown recently in a report made by a Dr. A. J. Byrne of England. He offers what seems to be a very simple and effective treatment. By the use of organic compounds of mercury, good results were observed in 500 patients

In all cases either phenyl mercuric chloride or phenyl mercuric acetate was used. Either of these can be applied as an ointment, a lotion or as a water solution.

When the ointment was used, it was put on a piece of gauze and this was bandaged on the affected part for the necessary period of time. It was found that three or four hours' application was sufficient to overcome the infection in all cases of ringworm of the groin or the body.

The affected areas were slightly red and itching for about twenty-four hours after the treatment. At the end of that time, the condition began to fade out and in five to six days, the skin was normal in appearance. In a few cases a second application for a period of three hours was necessary

In treating ringworm of the feet, the spaces between the toes are thoroughly cleaned and all the dead skin removed. Then a powder of the phenyl mercuric chloride with calamine is applied if the area is very moist. When drying has occurred, the ointment is applied twice daily.

Recurrence of ringworm of the feet usually takes place because of a fresh infection, or it may be due to reinfection from the patient's own socks and shoes. To overcome the latter, it is suggested that the socks be soaked for an hour before washing in a solution of the phenyl mercuric acetate, while the shoes are sprayed inside with an alcoholic solution of the same preparation

In treating ringworm of the groin, the ointment is put on for hours and covered with strips of gauze. It is found that with this treatment the skin becomes normal in from five to six days.

In treating the jungle sores, a solution of phenyl mercuric acetate is applied in the form of a compress. After twenty-four hours this is removed and a compress of salt solution put on. In some cases, skin grafting is necessary

It should be understood, however, that any treatment with a poisonous substance, such as phenyl mercuric acetate, should be given only under a doctor's supervision. Expert knowledge is needed to gauge the exact strength required to get results without causing damage. When this is available, it would appear that the use of mercury compounds may offer a quick and safe way of treating ringworm infections

Brewery Waste Seen As Poultry Rickets Cure

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4—Waste yeast left over from brewing could be transformed into a valuable dietary element to prevent rickets in poultry, Rev. Urban Siegrist, C. PP. S. of St. Joseph's college, Collegeville, Ind., believes.

He told the eighth annual research conference of the Institutum Divi Thomae yesterday, that ultraviolet irradiation of the waste greatly intensified the effect of a corrective diet for chicks after four weeks on a rickets-producing diet

Hew To the Line

BEGINNING next week, the house committee on executive department expenditures will conduct hearings to ascertain what kind of a job the government has done in detecting war frauds and how much money, if any, has been lost by overpayments in settlement of terminated contracts.

Head of the committee is Representative George H. Bender of Cleveland, who promises that the hearing will not be a repetition of the senate committee Hughes fiasco. Those sessions were conducted in such an atmosphere that it seemed likely the candy vendors would appear at any moment to peddle their wares.

The senate hearing ended with a moral victory for Hughes, although Bender observes: "The fact remains that after all the wisecracks and all the recrimination we are still trying to find out why we never saw an airplane, tail assembly or flying wing for those hard-earned $40,000,000 of taxpayers' money. In one word we are still asking Mr. Hughes for the goods we bought. If they are not going to be delivered, let's get our money back."

The task facing the Bender committeemen demands that they keep their sights fixed on their goal. They must subordinate partisan politics. When an item that might make "good copy" comes up, they must steer clear of it unless it is pertinent to the hearing. They shouldn't let newspaper photographers and radiomen become so thick underfoot they interfere with the business at hand. A few more sessions like the senate committee's Hughes investigation and the congressional investigating committee will be laughed right out of existence, like peg-top pants.

The Battle of New York

CLEANING up after the American Legion convention, New York wonders if it was worthwhile.

"New York will never tolerate the American Legion convention again," writes one Manhattan columnist. Another, waxing satirical, gives an American view of an imaginary convention of the Russian Legion in Moscow. "Look at those Russkis," he says, "they are barbarians who never grew up. No wonder Russia's in the mess it is. By contrast the New York American Legion convention was a model of decorum, dignity and peace. The sort of shenanigans that took place in Moscow could never, never happen in America."

New York hotel owners survey their battle-scarred rooms and put in orders for new sheets and fixtures. One estimates his damage at $20,000 and says the glass of more than 2,000 shattered bottles was swept up in the courts of his establishment. Thousands of women who ran the gauntlet of pinchers, water pistols and electric shockers aren't in agreement with some legionnaires over what constitutes good clean fun. Merchants counted that day lost when the big parade clogged streets from morning until late at night.

There was a belief that World War II veterans would inject a serious note in Legion convention proceedings. If there was a serious note, it was lost in the din of crashing glass and the sounds of revelry by night.

Quality, Not Quantity

IN THE Army's disclosure that 45 per cent of prospective recruits are rejected lies part of the explanation why the ranks are 80,000 under strength. No fault attaches to the Army in this deficiency. It has decided it has no place for misfits and those unable to acquire the technical skills essential in modern warfare. Hence enlistment requirements are higher than they have ever been.

There was a time when the Army accepted almost any prospective recruit. It was the happy home of loafers and those unable to make their way in civilian life. In many cities Army men were discouraged from wearing their uniforms off post because their behavior gave the military a bad name.

Thirty-five per cent of current applicants are turned down because of low intelligence quotients and 10 per cent more for physical reasons. Officers estimate they could double the enlistment rate by lowering requirements.

Supplementing its "selective enlistment" program, the Army is relying on three other plans to develop a trained man-power pool. Foremost is universal military training, which has been brought to the forefront again by Governor Dewey's endorsement. Second is a two-month National Guard recruiting program opening Sept. 16 with "a minute man a minute" as its motto. Third is a campaign for civilian specialists for the organized reserve corps.

The fact that discharges are 31 per cent greater than enlistments at the moment thus isn't the cause for alarm it might be. The Army's misfits are being weeded out and are not being replaced with other misfits. The Army is under strength, but it is not relying on numbers to give false impression of strength. The emphasis more and more is on quality rather than quantity, which is as it should be.

Fanciful Stories About Money Come from Paris.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 — The state department heard some stories that generally circulated last week that the Europeans had just about decided at Paris to take from the United States $38 to $40 billions more in four years. The figures were vaguely published from Paris in one New York paper, although not otherwise, yet they must have been mentioned in the confidential official dispatches, as this government decided to act fast.

Forty billions is double what anyone had mentioned anywhere before, and four times as much as the hapless Ben Cohen had guessed in a speech would be necessary—a guess which caused him to retire, without objection, as counsel to the state department.

At once, acting State Secretary Lovett dispatched two men to Paris. One is George Kennan, top-bracket manipulator on the Marshall general staff, or what might be called chief of staff of his policy planning commission. Kennan is supposed to be the Mr. X who wrote so straightforwardedly against Russia in foreign affairs quarterly, far more straightforwardedly than any official has done before under his own name. They say Kennan is greatly respected by State Secretary Marshall and is one of the most influential men in the department now. With him went Charles Bonesteel, a special assistant who is not well known.

Clayton in Geneva

Will Clayton, the foreign trade assistant, was supposed to be in Paris looking out for American interests at the conference although this country is not officially participating. But Clayton has been down at Geneva most of the time working on the international trade meeting, and the European planners at Paris have been just topsying along, concentrating on their own ills, seeing how much money they could use from us, without any advice as to how much might reasonably be available.

What Kennan and Bonesteel were sent to tell the European statesmen was evident in an off-the-record press conference held next day by a top state department official. His words were much stronger and more threatening than indicated thereafter in the public announcement from the Kennan-Clayton conference in Paris, although the restrictions against publication were such that they failed considerably to reach the public. He said:

Such figures were extravagant and out of line. If European demands for money from us get too high, wide and handsome, we will have to call off the whole advance planning — the Marshall plan.

But even if Paris is reasonable, we may not have enough money ourselves to furnish half what is wanted. The true basis of the Marshall plan, which Europe seems to be forgetting, is that the European nations will first help themselves to the utmost, to show how they can re-establish if certain aid is given, and then we will see about the aid. For instance, we may have to send tractors so they can work their own fields, instead of wheat, the finished product. We could give them "the fire hose" of peace, as it was said under lend lease, meaning the implements for production rather than production itself so they can help themselves.

Realities Advised

The Europeans were advised to change their demands and measure them to the realities of our situation.

No official said so, but Kennan and Bonesteel could well have been instructed to tell Clayton to tell the Europeans, they should not only demand what they need, but tell us how we are going to raise the money in this country to furnish it—whether by current high or still higher taxation, whether by increasing our staggering war debt now above $250 billions, or what.

The whole European conception of the Marshall plan had obviously grown out of reality into a sort of proposed grab-bag, and the administration acted hastily to correct it, knowing full well the limitations which might be imposed against any free money running scheme by a Republican congress.

The Paris plan was slated to be announced before Sept. 15. But just as important, there will then also come a report from the Harriman committee of nineteen on just how much aid this nation can afford to give Europe without running our prices up into an even higher stratosphere.

Nothing Up His Sleeve But His Vaccination

Accompanied by his wife, daughter, chief of staff, a number of aides and a complement of White House agents, President Truman is currently paying a goodwill visit to Brazil.

It's not much, of course, compared to Carmen Miranda, but it's the best that we could do.

The President is reportedly a new man now that congress has adjourned. This comes as a disappointment to the Republicans, who had hoped to wait until next year to get one.

Incidentally, the Brazilian scenery should prove most restive, what with all those wide open spaces, and no fences in need of mending.

Mr. Truman is in Rio strictly in the interest of international relations, none of the pivotal states having any considerable South American vote.

He's just gone down to renew hemispheric friendships, cement Pan-American solidarity and maybe inquire why we can't get a better cup of coffee.

UN Spreads Its Wings

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WHEN John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave the United Nations a site on the East river in New York City, he followed a precedent established when he contributed to the building of the palace of the League of Nations, as I understand he did. At any rate, he solved the problem of committees of the United Nations chasing all over the United States, giving our cities the once-over, scaring home-owners out of their wits by grandiose statements about how they were going to take over large areas of American property. He was fortunate to have the money and to be able to spend it freely.

"Nightmare" Envisioned

After the first shock of discovering that they were permanently saddled with the United Nations, New Yorkers became accustomed to the idea of a state within a state, of a segment of their city ceasing to be American and becoming international. Then the United Nations architects and engineers produced drawings and plans of the proposed buildings and the citizens foresaw an eternal nightmare, for someone had decided that the main United Nations building was to resemble a tombstone—a huge, skyscraper tombstone, the largest ever conceived by the human mind—but nonetheless a tombstone.

Of course, the pyramids are mausoleums, as is the Taj Mahal. It might have been conceived that the UN building would be a permanent mausoleum like the pyramids, but certainly it was not planned to be as beautiful as the Taj Mahal. It is to be an austere tombstone, a colossal rectangle, hard, unadorned, cold—a slap in the face by the north wind on a January day—standing out against the warm and glowing New York skyline.

May Be Symbolic

If that is how those who run UN conceive it to be, that is their affair, although why they should be permitted to perpetrate such a monstrosity in the city of New York is difficult to understand. Still, architecture can be symbolic and if a tombstone is the symbol which the UN officials choose for themselves, who shall say them nay?

The next thing we heard was that the UN people disliked the Queens bank of the East river. The borough of Queens is developing commercially. Over there used to be Astoria, of which Washington Irving wrote so eloquently when this country was young. But now it is all warehouses and factories and huge electric signs and railroad yards and it is displeasing to the UN secretariat who have to look out of the windows in the elevated tombstone. They want a wooded bank, something landscaped perhaps with pergolas and pagodas.

Queens Gives Offense

So they want New York to do something about Queens. Maybe the smartest way would be to blow the borough of Queens out of existence with an atom bomb (or a veto); then the Europeans could gaze out upon the Atlantic ocean. That would scare them everyday because it might remind them that sooner or later they will have to return to the countries whence they came, which none of them seem to want to do. At any rate, if anything is to be done about Queens, they expect the American taxpayer to put up the coin for doing it, an idea that he will reject if he has any brains left. Certainly it does not make sense for us to pay the United Nations to stay in this country.

Now they have come forth with another bit of gimme-gimme. They desire the approaches to UN extended until they reach out nearly to the middle of Manhattan island, dispossessing thousands of Americans from their homes, stores, shops, schools and churches. They would tear down a large tract of this over-crowded city, make its citizens homeless just to produce a pretty driveway with some trees and bushes on the side to look like a European boulevard.

The idea is that UN must look important. But important is that important does. So far UN has not justified its major purpose, which is to maintain the peace. What matters it what the approaches to a building, if mankind may have peace. It might even be in a manger that peace is sought and found.

U. S. Shows New Low in Deaths

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—A new all time low death rate for Americans may be set for this year.

Barring unforeseen developments, such a mortality record appears likely on the basis of policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., who form a representative cross-section of the urban population, says the company's Statistical Bulletin.

The death rate in the first half of this year was 7.6 per 1,000, or identical with the previous low in the first half of 1942, the bulletin said, and "when allowance is made for the increase in the average age of those insured in the past five years, the death rate in 1947 actually establishes a new minimum."

Blame from Britain

By RAYMOND MOLEY

"THE ECONOMIST," published in London, is widely read by editors all over America. This interest is justified, for it is an excellent source on European trends. In its issue of Aug 26, however, is an article with which Americans will warmly disagree. The "Economist" says that "the fault for the present crisis . . . is far more America's than Britain's. The loan was far too small when it was made . . . The conditions attached to it were unworkable . . . the sharp reduction of the real value of the loan was due to the rise in American prices following upon abandonment of price control in America."

Small Reduction

As to the size of the loan, the final reduction from the highest British proposal was not over 20 per cent. This reduction is far less than is normal in international bargaining or, in fact, in private bargaining in this country or in England. The British, despite their present governmental incapacity, are good traders. They sent the best among their financial experts, and these men returned with 80 per cent of what they asked for. At the time, a great deal was said in England about the loan as a real diplomatic victory.

The conditions attached to the loan were so soft that without even violating the agreement, as the "Economist" admits, the "the convertibility of the Pound Sterling has lasted only five weeks." Our Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has confirmed that this failure of the greatest of British "concessions" is not in violation of the British agreement.

Why Blame Us?

When the loan was before congress, it was pointed out in this column that all the paragraphs in the agreement concerning freedom of trade with America were so hedged that freer trade would not result. That prediction has been verified by events. Thus, the unworkability of the conditions resulted in advantages to Britain, not to the United States. How, then, can the "Economist" attach blame to us?

Despite the gestures of the loan agreement, no reasonable American expected freedom of trade with England and its empire. It became clear, after the agreement, that empire-preference would remain. And now, with drastic efforts to reduce imports, it is American industries that are hit. The motion-picture industry complains that the recent confiscatory tax on American films violates the agreement. And its arguments are good.

Tracing the Real Reason

So far as price control is concerned, it is strange to find an adherent of free economy complaining about a move by our congress in the direction of restoring free competition. It was not the abandonment of price control that raised our prices, so much as the encouragement given by the administration to wage increases and our efforts to help Europe to keep from starving. If, after abandoning price control, prices had fallen, the value of our loan would have been greater. Would the "Economist" have complained in that case? The British must have realized that they were dealing with a free economy.

If the "Economist" editors will turn back to its Aug. 16 issue, they will find the real reason for the crisis. It is, as the "Economist" admits, the incapacity of their government.

War on Beggars

BERLIN — Berlin's police have declared war on the beggar nuisance which is plaguing the city, because many of the beggars have been found to be making a handsome living by doubling as black-marketeers and "spotters" for burglary gangs.

A directive from police headquarters warned householders in all four occupation sectors of the city to beware the "harmless beggar," because a large percentage of the thousands which infest Berlin's streets and squares had been proved to be engaging in criminal activities.

Increase of Life's Span Cited as Evidence of How Medical Science Is Benefitting Mankind.

IN 1847 the average length of life of our people was about 40 years. In 1947, this has increased to almost 67 years. Such an accomplishment may be regarded as one of the major attainments of modern science, according to Edward L. Bortz, M. D., president of the American Medical Association.

Writing in the current issue of Hygeia, health magazine of the American Medical Association, Dr. Bortz points out that "medical science in the last 25 years has discovered remarkably effective weapons for the control of infectious diseases. Important new information with reference to nutrition, disorders of the glands, control of diabetes and obesity, and our knowledge of various nervous and mental disorders have made the doctor a more effective servant than in any previous time in the history of humanity.

"We are indeed a more healthy people today. We are living longer. The mature and productive years are increased in number, and the ravages of old age may be delayed if the people will cooperate with the medical profession, utilizing available information for the control of the diseases which are the common lot of people."

Continuing, the article states in part:

"Probably no other group has a keener sense of social responsibility than has the medical profession... More and more attention is given to the preventive aspects of disease. This includes an appreciation of nutritional requirements of the body, plus a number of other important necessities, such as rest, recreation and a healthy mental outlook. These factors represent some of the principal interests of the modern doctor.

"Organized medicine has always been a strong exponent of the highest type of medical service for all people, regardless of financial status. The unsolved questions of an economic nature are being approached with the same sense of scientific objectivity, free from emotional heat, as science utilizes in its laboratories and clinics.

"To facilitate international exchange of health information, the control of disease, and medical research a world medical association is now in process of formation. American doctors are deeply interested in this worthy project. Recently two distinguished members of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association flew to London to attend an organization meeting with representatives of other lands.

"AS international bonds are strengthened in the fields of science, medicine, the arts and culture, a better understanding will be brought about for people of the various nations of the world. As leaders in the medical realm communicate with one another across national boundaries, they bring to their own people the benefits of research and investigations in the fields of medical science which will improve the health of various populations. When they understand each other and contribute to the welfare and happiness of members of the family of nations, the irritations and misunderstandings that cause so much unhappiness should be more susceptible of compromise.

"Doctors are vitally interested in the broader problems of national security and international stability. The American Medical Association is vigorously engaged in promoting the dissemination of information that will improve the health of the people of all nations.

"American medicine is blazing new trails; it is moving in forward directions to a day of better understanding and finer health for people near and far. The leaders of medicine in the United States, supported by a superb staff of highly qualified colleagues and experts in the various special fields of administration, health education, medical economics, legislation and research, are throwing all their energy into the search for more adequate control of the disorders that destroy health and shorten life.

"The American people can rest assured that the doctors of the nation will continue to find new methods for the control of disease, improved measures for the public health, and an enlarged scope for the enjoyment of human existence. To these high aims the American Medical Association dedicates its interests and support."

Those Good Old Days

By TRUMAN TWILL

Here's one consumer who rustles the wherewithal for a family and denies that things were just dandy in the good old days of OPA, and also doubts they'd be any better if OPA hadn't been thrown out with Ma Perkins and Hank Wallace.

Bitter-enders who keep breathing down our neck and saying, "This is what comes of not listening to us when we told you what would happen if OPA was abolished" had better get themselves another audience. They tried to tell us then and are trying to tell us now that OPA is the greatest thing since Sinatra—and they can have both of them.

Prices are too high. We'll start from there. The purchasing power of money has shrunk like a cheap shirt. But let's not forget this: It didn't wait for the decline and fall of OPA to start shrinking. Nor this: That when they did away with OPA the thing was already half dead and beginning to smell.

This isn't a piece on economics. It's a blast of protest against people who tell us that if the United States hadn't stopped to do what needed to be done to OPA it would have caught the rabbit. Nuts. OPA worked during the war because the government—that's all of us—subsidized the losses of producers paying out more in expenses than they were getting back from consumers. When the war ended, so did the illusion that the cost of production hadn't sailed sky-high.

OPA was through. The people were fed up with empty shelves made that way by pinheads in Washington issuing orders that didn't make sense. The people were tired of having to wheedle storekeepers to dive down under and come up with driblets of bare necessities. They were tired of hearing mealy-mouths boast that price lines were being held on stuff that nobody could buy. They were squeamish about sharp boys in sharp suits aiming to be millionaires in the black market if OPA lasted long enough. Don't try to tell this consumer how wonderful things were under the OPA; we used to go bird-dogging for soap chips at the supermarket too. As they used to say back where we came from—we was there and saw where the big bear sat down in the buckwheat.

After the war ended, OPA represented the big itch of the economic planners to tell the people what they could and couldn't do. It was the curb-bit the authoritarians wanted to keep on that big dumb beast they call the masses—that means you, fat boy, and you, fat lady. But that part of the masses that likes to do its own thinking was ag'in it.

This doesn't take away anybody's right to be ag'in high prices, too, but here's one consumer that doesn't intend to let his peeve fall into the busy fingers of the little men who'd like to get that curb-bit back on the big dumb beast so they could start driving faster and faster and faster toward their goal of master-minding the United States of America from a couple of swivel chairs in Washington. Nuts to them—then, now and forevermore.

It is estimated that 7.6 pints of fluid milk are consumed weekly per capita in the United States; 7.17 in Canada; 5.2 in the United Kingdom; 5 in New Zealand; and 4 in Australia.

Gold on U. S. Ship Lost in 1866 Sought by Salvage Company

By The Associated Press

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 4—An Australian syndicate is investing thousands of dollars in an expedition to locate and salvage more than $10,000,000 worth of sunken gold, most of it in an American sailing ship that was lost 80 years ago.

The syndicate, formed by J. E. Johnstone, a marine salvage diver, plans to try first for the 300,000 pounds ($1,000,000 U. S.) worth of gold still in the liner Niagara, sunk by mines off the coast of New Zealand during the war.

Then it will seek the fortune, estimated at 3,000,000 pounds ($10,000,000 U. S.) in gold that disappeared when the 1,200-ton American sailing ship General Grant was lost on the largest of the desolate Auckland islands, 289 miles south of New Zealand, May 14, 1866.

To Spend $24,300

E. J. Sheehy, a Sydney accountant and a member of the syndicate, said 7,500 pounds ($24,300 U. S.) was being invested in the treasure search.

The General Grant came to grief on a voyage from Melbourne to England via Cape Horn and 67 of the 82 aboard lost their lives. Violent gales drove the ship off her course, a strong tide drew her into a cleft on the lonely, uninhabited island and, at the end of the cleft, sucked the vessel into a huge cavern. Trapped by a rising tide in the cavern, the General Grant was smashed against the roof of the cave.

According to an old manifest, the General Grant carried 2,576 ounces of gold, but Sheehy said he was convinced that nine tons of "spelter" listed in the freight also was gold. All the passengers, he said, probably carried additional gold in their personal belongings.

(Gold frequently was shipped quietly out of the country in the last century to avoid an export tax and to conceal from crew members and passengers the value of bullion aboard.)

Leased Wrecked Island

Sheehy said that "with an eye on the gold" he had taken a lease on the 300,000-acre island on which the American clipper was wrecked from the New Zealand government in 1933.

"The New Zealand government has given me full rights to all gold that might be recovered," he said.

In the last 50 years six lives have been lost in unsuccessful attempts to recover the General Grant's gold. The new syndicate hopes that with modern equipment, including a diving bell, the search will be successful without particular risk.

Diver Johnstone raised 2,300,000 pounds ($7,500,000 U. S.) of Bank of England bullion from the sunken Niagara, but the salvage syndicate received only 2½ per cent commission on that undertaking. Sheehy said that the Bank of England had notified Johnstone he could claim 50 per cent of any remaining gold recovered.

The Niagara is lying in 438 feet of water and the remaining gold, Johnstone says, is under a shelf on the ocean bed. Johnstone plans to go down this time in a new diving bell, from which he will have direct control of a grab.

The expedition plans to leave a New Zealand port in a chartered vessel in October and, after tackling the Niagara, will go to the Auckland islands about the end of the year.

Anniversary Program Presented by Grange

An anniversary program was held by Martel Grange Tuesday night, Aug. 26, in the Martel school auditorium. The charter members were honored during the lecturer hour and presented boutonnieres.

Mrs. James McKinstry and Mrs. Wilbur Holtsberry sang "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," and the history of the grange was read by Mrs. Clyde Logan. Mrs. Holtsberry played a medley of old tunes on the accordion, and Stanley B. Stowe of Marion gave a talk on "The History of the Grange." A song by the group closed the program and refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. Kenneth Pangborn as chairman.

Gerald Caris and Richard Berry were given the obligation for the first four degrees. At the next meeting, Sept. 9, annual inspection will be held.

Average Farmer To Get Top Income This Year

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—The average American farmer may make more money this year than ever before.

That's the opinion of agriculture department experts who have checked up and found that gross farm earnings are running at record levels, indicating the net return (after expenses) may be the be the best in history.

A survey by the department's bureau of agricultural economics, released yesterday, places total farm cash receipts in the first eight months of the year at $17,400,000,000, or 21 per cent higher than the same period of the peak year of 1946. The net income of the average farmer in 1946 was $2,541.

The reasons for the rise in earnings, says the department, is the big demand for food and the high prices that are being paid for it.

Legion Chief Heard

And James F. O'Neil, new commander of the American Legion, declared yesterday in New York that while the danger of war can't be overlooked, "the talk of war is exaggerated"—that "there is too much talk of war and not enough talk of peace."

Well, let's talk of peace. What stands in the way of it? The clear answer to that is the great differences between the Russian bloc and the west. Those differences are based on Communistic aggression—on the threat of the red world-revolution which finally is in full swing. Economic crises—some of them involving stark hunger—are plowing many countries of Europe and Asia for the sowing of discord, and are forcing millions to grasp at any straw of hope, or to surrender to forces which they cannot combat.

Mr. Truman declared the post-war era "has brought us bitter disappointment and deep concern," and added: "We find that a number of nations are still subjected to a type of foreign domination which we fought to overcome. Many of the remaining peoples of Europe and Asia live under the shadow of armed aggression." The President said European economic recovery has lagged because of "political fear and uncertainty in addition to the devastation caused by war."

Those are some of the things that stand in the way of peace.

Unless the existing aggression is eliminated, there will be war and nothing can stop it. It isn't likely to come now, or for years, because the sinews for another global conflict are lacking. But it will eventuate in due course—unless that aggression is removed.

What can dissipate these obstacles to peace? Perhaps one answer is to be found in President Truman's assertion that the United States is determined to remain strong to back up a foreign policy based on a desire for permanent peace. Certainly weakness encourages aggression.

Another vastly important aid to peace will be the economic rehabilitation of Europe. Prosperity will provide the strength to withstand political or military aggression. The Marshall plan is calculated to take care of that. America will help the stricken countries rehabilitate themselves though as President Truman pointedly mentioned, our resources are not unlimited.

So we find, after all that there is a chance of averting another world war, if we can remove the "shadow of armed aggression." But if that continues—if small nations continue to fall under "a type of foreign domination which we fought to overcome," then there will be war.

Two Blooms Out On Orchid Plant

While most Marion residents were growling about the recent heat wave Mrs. D. E. Montgomery of 855 Delaware avenue was anxiously watching two buds on an orchid plant slowly unfold in the humid atmosphere.

Two blossoms are now in full bloom and each measures about 5½ inches in diameter. The blooms, purple throated with a tinge of yellow, first opened a week ago Tuesday and are still in perfect condition.

The plants have been cared for by Mrs. Montgomery since their purchase several months ago. They average about 20 inches in height. Another is scheduled to bloom in December or January if the cold weather doesn't interfere.

Writer Gives 'Golden' Thought To Treasury; Gets Bum's Rush

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 — I did my best to make some sense of this dispatch about gold. The whole day I spent with the experts in their counting house. I looked at their charts and took careful notes—and all I can say is I hope they know what they are doing.

Ernie Bevin, Britain's heavy-jowled foreign minister, brought up the subject when he said we ought to quit burying our gold in Kentucky, like a squirrel, and pass it around to folks (like himself) who could find a better use for it.

So I dropped over to the U. S. treasury to see about this and pick up my bar of gold if any was being given away. I didn't get enough gold for a watch fob. All I got was insults. The longer those financiers talked, the fancier their language became and the redder their faces. They're kind of toughy, I think, maybe. The situation stacks up like this:

This country has about 800 mines, where 20,000 men labor all year at high wages digging gold out of the ground. Then the government buys it at $35 an ounce and buries it again at Ft. Knox, Ky.

"Sounds Dopey"

I told the Golden boys that this sounded dopey to me. "Look who's talking," they replied, adding (as if I were a half-wit) that we needed our $20,000,000,000 worth of buried gold as a basis for our currency.

"Yeah," I asked, "but why dig it up in the first place?"

"Huh?" demanded the treasury.

Patiently I explained that the gold was buried already and mostly down deep. So why dig it and then rebury it? Fire the 20,000 gold miners and let 'em find some useful work. Fill up the 800 gold mines with sand, plant grass on top, and forget the dig-and-bury monkeyshines.

This suggestion astounded the treasury. Left it with its mouth open. Gave it something to think about. But little thanks I got. Those secret service agents kept nudging me and pretty soon I was out in Pennsylvania avenue.

Great thinkers nearly always get the bum's rush. If the treasury had thought of my idea years ago (and I think it's embarrassed because it didn't) there wouldn't be any gold mines. Nor any Ft. Knox, either, with a 3,000 acre reservation surrounding a hole in the ground, nor any steel and concrete box 40 by 64 feet suspended inside the hole. Nor any valves to squirt poison gas and, or, water into the space around the hole in case of enemy attack. I don't guess anybody ever went to so much trouble to safeguard a pile of gold in a hole, or kept so many men at work digging gold out of other holes to more men could bury it again in this one.

If the treasury wants any further advice, it can write me a letter. And say please. My only consolation is that Foreign Secretary Bevin got no better reception than I did. The boys gave him the old trans-Atlantic horse laugh.

They said if he wanted some of our gold, he could buy all he needed at $35 an ounce. Then they winked. They're giving this gold away to nobody, they won't even sell it to an American citizen for American dollars unless he can prove he'll use it for cuff links, wrist watches, or the gilding of the Massachusetts state capitol dome.

That's the way it is and there doesn't seem to be a thing that Ernie or I can do about it.

RAIN THWARTS TRUMAN'S MOUNTAIN CLIMBING PLAN

President Works on Tomorrow's Speech Instead of Holidaying.

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 4—Rain thwarted President Truman's plans to take another mountain hike today.

The President, who climbed 1,000 feet up the Corcovado (Hunchback) mountain yesterday, had hoped to don slacks, sport shirt and heavy shoes for this morning's expedition, his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said.

When rain put a damper on his plans, Mr. Truman remained in the embassy, working on his 15-minute speech to be delivered to the Brazilian congress tomorrow (2 p. m. EST).

The President and his physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, climbed the mountain yesterday to look at orchids. They brought back one bloom and six plants.

Last night Mr. Truman went to the municipal opera to see the second act of Puccini's "La Tosca." He and Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, were to move this afternoon from the U. S. embassy residence to the La Ranjeiras palace, Brazil's guest house for distinguished visitors.

The President, who arrived here by plane last Monday, will join Sunday in celebration of the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence and will leave for home the same day on the Battleship Missouri.

munist expansion in those countries.

Bender wrote to Taber:

"It is my belief that in the interests of peace and economical government, the congress at some point in the near future will be obliged to curb the Truman administration's reckless policy of foreign expenditures."

"Must Limit Credits"

It also will be necessary, he added, to "repudiate Mr. Truman's general policy of militarism and vast military expenditures and limit international economic commitments to genuine commercial credits for American goods."

Bender contended United States action in Greece "demonstrates the stubborness with which the President and his administration are pursuing their present course, to the retirement of our prestige as a nation and the cause of international peace. . ."

Bender said European nations have not been allowed to proceed independently in drawing up their plans for economic rehabilitation and added that the administration proposes to write proposals "in its own terms for subsequent presentation to us in congress."

Is the Cost a Consideration . . ?

Fore some families the cost of a funeral is a serious problem — and that is especially true in these days when incomes are failing to meet soaring living costs.

Many families are finding the answer to that problem at the Hughes Funeral Home. Costs are kept within an amount they can afford, yet all receive the benefit of full staff services and equipment.

Crash Survivor Recovering

feet from the wreckage. Still strapped to seats were the bodies of Mrs. Stotts and Miss Talbot. During the war Stroop was an Army P-51 pilot.

The plane had been missing since two hours after its take-off for the return trip to Dayton from Cleveland.

At McKitrick hospital here, Gorman was visited only by physicians and nurses, his wife, father and stepmother. His father reported the youth thought a sudden down-draft, commonly called an air pocket, had plunged the plane into the woods.

Planes had scoured the state for the missing ship since Tuesday but Gorman was quoted by his father as saying the crash scene was so dense "they never would have found us."

Getz said the crash survivor was "semi-conscious and babbling incoherently" when he appeared at the house.

"He said something about a body being on top of him when he regained consciousness," Getz related. "He also mumbled something about animals being around the airplane." Stroop's body was badly mutilated by hogs pastured in the woods.

Describing the plane, Gorman told his father:

"It is just gone—there's nothing there. The fuselage is gone.

Sighted by Boy

Larry Getz, 5, had watched Gorman as he staggered toward the house and up to the porch. The boy called his father who found the injured youth in an incoherent condition.

Not aware a plane was missing Getz went to the home of a neighbor, Virgil Hayes, and told him, "There's a crazy man over at my place."

Hayes went over to find Gorman, bearded and disheveled, just beginning to talk coherently.

Gorman pointed out the location of the crash before he was taken to the hospital. Hayes returned with state patrolmen, sheriff, police and an ambulance. Finally a tractor and wagon were called to remove the bodies.

Hayes went on to give the following account of the scene of the accident:

"There were two persons in the plane—dead, of course. A third, mangled by hogs, was lying about 25 feet north. (This was the pilot, Stroop, who was thrown clear).

"The plane was scattered all over the woods with a wing still up in a treetop.

"Gorman told us he sat beside one of the dead women, who fell across him at the time of the crash, so he couldn't get out. He was too weak from loss of blood.

"He told me it seemed to take him about 400 years to crawl to the farmhouse porch, so he must have started the trip in the morning.

The plane took off from Cleveland Monday about 6:30 p. m. without filing a clearance.

Last Radio Report

The last report on it was received by the Columbus Civil Aeronautics control office, which announced that Stroop, a P-51 pilot during the war, had radioed in shortly after leaving Cleveland that he was turning east off course to avoid thunderstorms.

Residents in the Kenton area said a storm struck about 8:30 p. m. Monday that was the "severest in years." Strong winds and brilliant lightning marked the squall.

Discovery of the plane brought to a close a state-wide search by nearly 50 aircraft from Dayton, Cleveland and other cities. A C-47 transport of the Army Rescue Service was sent from Selfridge Field, Mich., with emergency kits to aid in the hunt.

Earlier in the day the Miami Valley Flying Service, headed by Fred Stroop, father of the dead pilot, offered a $1,000 reward for the first information on the discovery of the plane.

Stotts and his son Jack left Cleveland Airport Monday in another plane about the same time that the ship piloted by Stroop took off. When the second plane failed to arrive at South Dayton the CAA was notified and the search began.

Gorman, whose condition was described by physicians as "fair," is the son of E. J. Gorman, a Dayton real estate man. He was visiting his father when he made the Labor Day trip to the air races.

Gorman, whose wife is expecting a child soon, was concerned only about how worried she would be.

How long the plane might have lain in the woods without discovery if Gorman had not been able to walk in was a matter of guesswork.

The plane came down among the trees, 40 to 50 feet tall, on the farm of Carl Bidwell, six miles northwest of here.

Bidwell recalled he heard a plane "flying awful low over the house" during a storm Monday night.

The craft struck a 45-foot locust tree and hit the earth 125 feet away. Both wings and the tail assembly were sheared off. One wing stuck in the top of the tree.

The Bidwell woods, containing five acres, is in a remote area of the farm section northeast of Kenton.

It is seldom visited except when the owner looks after hogs he has on pasture there. The woods is dense with large trees, second growth saplings and underbrush. Visibility through the tangle of undergrowth is limited to less than 100 feet.

Bidwell House Nearer

The Getz house is north of the woods. The Carl Bidwell house is nearer to the scene of the crash but Gorman apparently headed for the white Getz home, the first one he saw. The Bidwell home is of brick construction and possibly was not so plainly visible to Gorman from a distance.

Hardin county residents familiar with the woods say it would be difficult for ground searchers to have discovered the plane unless they had happened to stumble across it. Search from the air, too, would have been hampered by the dense foliage. The only possible clue that might have been sighted from the air is a section of one wing still hanging in a tall tree.

Gorman is reported to have lapsed into unconsciousness and revived three or four times enroute from the Getz home to the hospital.

Hundreds of Kenton residents today recalled hearing a plane flying low over the city at the height of the Monday night storm. It is thought the craft was the one that carried three to their death.

Gorman was quoted as saying "the last thing I heard Stroop (the pilot) say was that 'we are over Kenton.'"

Kenton residents say the plane circled several times before fading from hearing distance.

Bodies of the three victims were taken to the Wittman Funeral home in Dayton, arriving there at 3 a. m. today.

Death certificates were signed by Dr. S. P. Churchill in the absence of County Coroner J. A. Mooney, who is out of the city.

While he talked some with his father, E. J. Gorman, about the ordeal, he still did not make clear when he left the plane and how long it took him to reach the Getz home, three-fourths of a mile away.

He mentioned something about "rail fences and rivers." He had crawled through a drainage ditch on the trip and his clothes were caked with mud.

Gorman told his father that when he first regained consciousness in the plane, he was pinned under Mrs. Stott's body. He awoke and then went back into a coma two or three times before gaining strength enough to get out of the wreckage.

"I can't understand how I was saved," he kept telling his father.

Believe Doomed Plane Flew Over Marion

A plane which came from the direction of Cleveland circled over the Marion airport and passed out of sight in a southern direction and was seen by several Marion residents is thought to have been the one which crashed in a woods near Kenton during Monday night's electrical storm.

Sighted around 8 p. m., the plane's course was followed by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Swisher of 1067 East Center street, from their porch where they had been watching planes flying over the city during the early part of the evening. Lights on the plane, which was flying at a height of approximately 1,000 to 1,500 feet, were flashing, the craft seemed to be under control and the pilot evidently had his bearings, Mr. Swisher said.

A single-motored craft, it came from the direction of Cleveland, apparently encountered a storm cloud, circled over the airport and then headed directly south. It was plainly visible in the bright flashes of lightning which preceded the storm. The rain and severe electrical storm had not struck here when the plane disappeared from view, Mr. Swisher said.

Manner of Dividing Reward Undecided

By The United Press

DAYTON, Sept. 4—Raymond Stotts, manager of the South Dayton airport and an official of the Miami Valley Flying service, said today he hadn't decided who would receive the $1,000 reward offered for information about the plane in which his wife and two other persons were killed when it crashed near Kenton.

Stotts said a W. A. North called the airport from Kenton with the first information about the location of the crash, but that he had no other identification of North.

Charles Wood Gorman, only survivor of the crash, made his way to the farmhouse of Walter Getz, who took Gorman to a Kenton hospital and brought in the first definite information on the accident.

Nomad hunters of central Australia are reported to be able to eat and drink in large quantities and then travel long distances without food and with little water.

Rev. Myers To Open Services at Morral

Rev. J. B. Myers, pastor of the Celina circuit of Methodist churches, will open a series of meetings in the Morral Methodist church Sunday night, the pastor, Rev. J. William Myers, announced. To be known as the Morral for Christ Evangelistic campaign, the meeting will continue through Sept. 21 with services each night except Saturday at 8 o'clock. Rev. Robert P. Miller, a song evangelist of the Friends church, will have charge of music.

A former pastor of the Hilltop Community church in Columbus, Rev. Myers served as director at the founding of the Columbus Evangelistic center, now known as Third Street mission. For more than 10 years he sang with the Gospel Four quartet, an activity which took him into many evangelical churches in a work which was interdenominationally promoted.

Rev. Miller sang with H. Max Good, radio preacher, on the "Wings of Prayer" program one year, and he has also been associated with the "Bible Meditation League" program. He has been a church choir director a number of years and a trombone soloist, and has made a number of recordings

Court Holds Newspaper Can Reject Advertising

By International News Service

LYONS, Kans., Sept. 4—A court ruling today held that a newspaper has the right to reject advertising.

District Judge Roy J. McMullen ruled that the Lyons Daily News need not accept advertising offered by L. J. Bromert of Hutchinson.

Bromert, head of a woodworking firm, sought to compel the newspaper to accept advertising rejected twice previously.

The newspaper held that its purpose was service to Lyons county advertisers and readers and that advertising, of a competitive nature, would harm them.

The stone road between Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pa., was the first paved highway in the United States.

U. S. TO SCRAP CURB ON USE OF RUBBER

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — A commerce department official said today the government soon would scrap controls on use of natural rubber in approximately 30,000 products, but retain limitations on usage in tires and-tubes.

The relaxed regulations, now in the "final clearance stage" and due for issuance within two weeks, also will eliminate inventory control over stocks of natural rubber held by industry, the official told a reporter. Firms now are prohibited from keeping more than 90-day supply on hand.

The official added that "there have been rumors the use of up to 67 per cent of natural rubber would be authorized for passenger car tires" but that this proposal has been "rejected by the rubber industry."

The regulations will leave use limitations only on tires, tubes and certain natural rubber latex items, include latex foam products. Items to be freed include such things as sportsgoods, footwear, wire and cable.

The amount of natural rubber authorized for use in tires ranges from 23 per cent for those of 600-17 size and smaller, up to as much as 95 per cent in bus and truck tires. Remaining requirements are filled with synthetic rubber—tires using a large part of the CR-S type and tubes taking most of the butyl production.

The commerce department official said that rubber industry officials had completed "an overall study of the supply situation and decided there still is not enough natural rubber available to meet all requirements."

Red Men Ballot On Three Applications

Three applications for membership were balloted on and two new members were given the obligation at a meeting of Chippewa Tribe No. 30, Improved Order of Red Men, Tuesday night in the Democratic hall. Birtle Van Horn was elected to the office of tribal deputy.

Plans were made for initiation to be held Sunday, Sept. 28, in the hall with the degree team from Toledo in charge of the All-American degree. This team, one of the oldest and best equipped in the state, was selected to be in charge of the degree work put on in honor of the new great sachem, Wilbur Curtis, at Troy recently.

A large class of candidate is expected for this meeting and visitors from other tribes in the state will be present. Plans were also made for a number of social activities in the fall and winter months.

$200 IN COINS STOLEN FROM PENNY ARCADE

O'Shaughnessy Dam Concession Looted by Burglars

DELAWARE, Sept. 4—Burglars broke into the penny arcade at O'Shaughnessy Dam park early Tuesday taking more than $200 in coins, Sheriff Earl Fravel reported.

A reward of $100 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty persons, the sheriff said.

The burglary took place sometime between 11 p. m. Monday and 1:30 a. m. Tuesday when the nightwatchman found the arcade door open.

Apparently entering the arcade through the rear window, the thieves pried open 10 coin machines, carrying away the coin boxes in six of them. About $150 in nickels, $50 in pennies and $20 from a cash drawer was taken.

Sheriff Fravel estimated that two gallon cans would be needed to carry the loot in nickels alone.

Minimum Wage Hearings Thrown Open to Public

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 4—Public hearings on proposed minimum wage rates for women and minors employed in the Ohio hotel and restaurant industry were planned today by Industrial Relations Director W. J. Rogers.

Rogers yesterday received the proposals from five members of the nine-member board, and immediately announced he would hold the public hearings.

The proposals call for increases up to 150 per cent over present minimum for some classes of workers.

Three employer members of the board walked out of heated session Aug. 5 at which the proposed scales were determined. They were: D. M. Myers of Cincinnati, Frank Wells of Wooster, and George Guyer of Xenia.

They argued most employers are paying more than present minimums and declared the board was not empowered to "modify up."

CHARGE AGAINST OHIO OFFICER REFUTED

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 4—A prosecution witness at the Navy court martial of Lt. (jg) Richard Cascoigne of Lorain, O., which continues today, testified the Navy supply officer subjected himself to a severe physical beating by the Japanese in an attempt to keep food for himself and his comrades.

The witness, Army Maj. Achille Tisdelle of Fort Benning, Ga., made the statement under cross examination as he told of his initial meeting with Gascoigne, who is charged with mistreating fellow war prisoners in Japan.

Disdelle said he first saw Gascoigne, whose home is in Lorain, O., aboard a Japanese freighter, which was transporting American prisoners from the Philippines to Japan in the spring of 1942.

He said Gascoigne, who had been designated commisary sergeant by the enemy, was given a ham by the Japanese military to be divided among 499 prisoners.

"Shortly after it was presented to Gascoigne," Tisdelle said, "he was approached by members of the ship crew who demanded that he turn over the delicacy to them. Gascoigne refused to do so, and the Japs began to beat him about the head and shoulders with a coal shovel. Only after he was badly beaten and could no longer resist, did Gascoigne relinquish our prize."

Tisdelle had previously testified, over the objection of defense counsel, that Gascoigne appeared in good physical condition the day he is alleged to have knocked down a fellow war prisoner at the Fukuoka camp No. 17, Omuta, Kyushu, Japan.

Defense counsel had intimated that it would be shown Gascoigne was too weak at the time for such an act.

Gascoigne has pleaded innocent to all four specifications and the general charge of "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline."

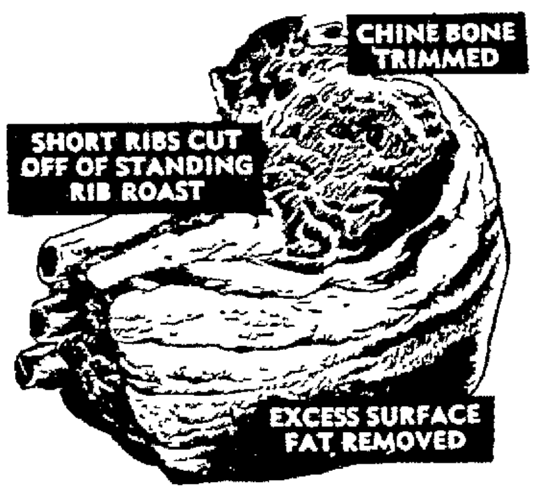
ALBERS ANSWER TO HIGH MEAT PRICES



CHINE BONE TRIMMED
SHORT RIBS CUT OFF OF STANDING RIB ROAST
EXCESS SURFACE FAT REMOVED

The price of live cattle and dressed beef is now at or near record levels, which has resulted in beef prices beyond the reach of many customers. We at Albers realize that something must be done to place meat prices within the reach of all. Therefore, until further notice, Albers will carry "U. S. Good and Choice" grades of beef at one price, and "U. S. Commercial" grade at a lower price.

These prices are as follows:	U S. CHOICE OR GOOD GRADES	YEARLING U. S. COMMERCIAL GRADES
SIRLOIN STEAK Lb.	80c	65c
PORTERHOUSE Lb.	90c	77c
ROUND STEAK Lb.	84c	73c
RIB ROAST 6th and 7th RIB Lb.	65c	52c
CHUCK ROAST Lb.	59c	49c

A WORD ABOUT BEEF GRADES . . .

All beef handled by Albers is graded by expert Government graders. The various grades are determined by certain standards pertaining to the conformation, fat covering and finish of the animal. The grades are "Choice," "Good," "Commercial," and "Utility." Each carcass is roller stamped according to its particular grade.

While the fat covering on "Commercial" grade is not usually as heavy or as evenly distributed as on U. S. "Choice" and "Good" grades, you can be assured that it will give satisfaction. The most important point to consider is that these cuts of meats have the same nutritive value, regardless of grade; and in purchasing "U. S. Commercial" grade you are not denying your family any of the nutrition so necessary to human life.

ALBERS GUARANTEE STILL STANDS . . .

Our "U. S. Commercial" beef will carry the same guarantee as the "Choice" and "Good" grades, namely: All meat sold at Albers meat counters, regardless of cut, price or grade, is guaranteed to please you 100% or all your money back without fuss or quibble.

Why Pay More than Albers Prices?

This is not true of Albers Prices. Albers report of food prices submitted to the U. S. FAST SELLING WAVE HITS STOCK MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—A brief but relatively fast selling wave hit the stock market today and knocked over leading issues fractions to more than 2 points before a little support arrived.

Slow dealings with assorted recoveries among aircrafts and other sections ruled at the start.

Disappointment over the fact that the market had refused to do one thing or the other in recent sessions was said to have touched off considerable liquidation The cloudy international economic picture and doubts regarding domestic business in the light of dwindling exports, in addition to the price-wage spiral, caused the shelving of accounts in a number of instances A sizable batch of pleasing dividends was ignored by the majority of issues concerned

Packard Motors was one of the liveliest movers, coming out on a block of 15,300 shares at a new 1947 low. On the downside were U. S Steel, Bethlehem, Follansbee Steel (in the face of a raised quarterly), Youngstown Sheet, American Telephone, Western Union, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, U. S Rubber, Woolworth, International Harvester, Sperry, United Aircraft, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, American Smelting, Texas Co and Johns-Manville

Non-skids for Rugs

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Children won't like this, but skidding dogs and adults who slide on rugs accidentally, can obtain a firm tread by a plastic applied to the bottom of the textile.

The National Safety Council estimates that 63 per cent of home accidents come from falls, and that sliding rugs account for many of these.

CLEANING PLANT ADDS SPACE TO BUILDING

Spotless Erects 20 by 50 Foot Annex to Quarters.

Additional floor space has been provided at the Spotless Cleaners at 249 West Center street through the construction of a 20 by 50 foot annex to the present building, owner Ben Lenavitt announced today.

The addition made to the rear of the present building increases total floor space to 3,000 feet. Constructed of cinder block, the annex will house the equipment used in operating the shirt laundry division of the cleaning establishment. Lenavitt said the increasing demand for fast laundry service prompted the expansion.

Lenavitt opened the Spotless Cleaners 10 years ago at its present location. The original staff of two has increased to 18 employes since that time. With the increased facilities provided by the new building, Lenavitt said he hoped to offer four hour shirt laundry service and two hour dry cleaning service.

U. S. Consumption Of Meats in 1948 Expected To Drop

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 4—A marketing authority for the American Meat institute estimated yesterday the 1948 per capita consumption of all meats would average 10 pounds less than the "extremely high rate of consumption" this year

R J Eggert, associated director of the institute's department of marketing, estimated the 1948 per capita consumption would average 148 pounds, which, although lower than the 1947 estimate, would represent an increase of 10 pounds over the 1939-41 period

The per capita consumption of beef next year Eggert told the 42nd annual meeting of the Meat institute, will average about 69 pounds, slightly less than the estimated 1947 average Veal consumption is expected to be about 9 2 pounds, off seven per cent, and lamb and mutton will drop to less than five pounds per capita, he said

The 1948 consumption of pork, Eggert said, was expressed to be about 65 pounds a person, a 10 per cent decrease compared with 1947 and four per cent below the pre-war average.

Luncheon Loaf Variety

BAR-B-QUICK . . Made with ready cooked meats.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned luncheon meats are fairly reasonably priced. That's a big point this year of 1947, isn't it? But perhaps you—and your GI family members are tired of canned meats That could be because you just turn them out of the can, slice them and serve them Here are some suggestions on other ways to serve canned meats

Bar-B-Quick

Three tablespoons cider vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce 2 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 (7-ounce) can tomato paste, 1 (12-ounce) can luncheon meat.

Combine in a skillet all ingredients except the canned luncheon meat, mixing well Simmer about 10 mins Cut lucheon meat crosswise into strips (3x1x1 ins) and add to sauce in skillet. Simmer 20 mins. longer or until sauce thickens Turn meat occasionally. Spear each piece of meat with a small skewer and serve hot. Makes 4 servings. If you prefer, cut the meat in smaller strips, spear with a cocktail toothpick and serve as a hot hor d'ouvre.

Baked Luncheon Meat

Two tins luncheon meat, brown sugar, cloves

Remove meat from tin and place in baking pan. Cover well with brown sugar and stick with cloves Bake in 400° oven until sugar is browned, but not black. Slice to serve

Luncheon Meat with Sour Cream

One (12 ounce) can luncheon meat, ½ pint sour cream, 2 tablespoons freshly grated horseradish, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, ½ teaspoon salt.

Slice meat about ¼ inch thick. Fry slices in butter or margarine until nicely browned. Pour in other ingredients, well mixed together and let heat through.

Luncheon Meat with Macaroni

Eight ounces macaroni, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, salt and pepper, 1 tin luncheon meat, cut in small cubes

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 12 minutes and drain. Melt butter or margarine Remove from stove and blend in flour. Return to stove and add milk. Stir constantly until thickened. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add cooked macaroni and luncheon meat and mix well. Place in greased oven-proof casserole Sprinkle generously with grated cheese, dot with butter or margarine Bake at 350° a half hour or until cheese is well browned.

BOWLING RESULTS

Bowling's elite 200 circle wasn't crashed in opening night league activity at the Palace Recreation Center Tuesday night.

The Marion Power Shovel and the McMillen Feeds league rolled to open the season, most of the keglers finding that their game needs a little polishing up.

The best showings of the night were turned in by L. Schwaderer and W. Osborne, the former rolling the high single game score and the latter rolling the high series, a 198 and 534. Both rolled in the Shovel loop.

Two other leagues scheduled for Tuesday activity at the Palace will not get under way until next week. They are the Shovel afternoon league and the Home league.

Tuesday activity at the Marion alleys will open next week with the Men's All-Star league and the Automotive league going into action.

Three Ohio Youths Held After One's Uncle Loses $1,000

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 4—Three Ohio boys who last night reported the loss of a wallet containing $375 were held by police today for Indiana authorities investigating the disappearance of $1 000 from the home of an uncle of one of the youths.

The boys were identified by Police Sergeant Edmund A. Rasmussen as Walter Morgan, 16, Kenneth Hull, 17, and Dion Hicks, 18, all of Norwood, O.

Rasmussen said authorities at Norwood had requested Chicago police to hold the boys without charge for Indiana state police. Norwood police told him, Sergt. Rasmussen said, that $1,000 disappeared from the home of Hull's uncle at Versailles, Ind., while the boys were visiting there Sunday.

Rasmussen said police became suspicious when the boys, in reporting loss of the wallet, related then ran a $10 bill into $1,000 in wagering at race tracks.

The officer said the boys told this story when questioned about the $375 loss:

After leaving Norfwood, they hitchhiked to South Bend, Ind., Friday and came on to Chicago by airplane. They registered for a $9 a day room at a south side hotel and then set out for the Washington park race track.

Their first selections won them the daily double Monday, they said, and other wagers increased their winnings to $1,000. They spent $300 on souvenirs and still had $500 in the hotel safe.

Rasmussen said $500 still was in the hotel vault. The officer said Norwood authorities advised him Hicks and Morgan had left home with their parents' permission but that Hull was a runaway.

Picnic Reports Given At Eagles' Meeting

Reports of the chairmen of the various committees in charge of plans for the Eagles picnic Sunday were heard at the weekly meeting of the body Wednesday night.

The picnic, an annual event, will be open to Eagles and their families. Transportation to and from Crystal Lake park, where it will be held, will be provided by Marion Rapid Transit buses. The recreation program will include swimming, roller skating and dancing.

Three applications for membership were read, the applicants to be initiated with the Otto Eibling class Sept. 28.

Americans use some 600 million pounds of waxed paper annually.

200 Make Merry at Annual Marion Co. Courthouse Picnic

The Marion county courthouse staff Wednesday afternoon held its annual picnic at Harrison Smith park in Upper Sandusky. The various county offices were closed at 3 p. m. when county officials and employes, with families and friends, took time off to participate in what was unanimously reputed to be one of the best courthouse outings in many years.

Arranged by Court Bailiff Fred Miller, as chairman, the program included a softball game between teams captained by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer and County Treasurer Marion Hinklin, egg-tossing contests, balloon-blowing contests, foot races and others provoking much amusement among the 200 persons attending.

Outcome of the softball game, apparently one of the features of the outing, is still being debated today in friendly jest throughout the courthouse. Both teams agree the score was 9 to 7, but who won is subject of conflicting reports. The game was called somewhere around the fourth inning when lunch was served.

The Sheriff's team included Probate Judge Edward Ruzzo at third base, Common Pleas Judge Paul D Smith in center field, Prosecuting Attorney James E Reed, Warren Morrison and Fred Miller, while the County Treasurer's line-up included Deputy Sheriff Ray LaMonda, Clifford Swisher, James Sloan and Marion Apple. Heavy hitters were Treasurer Hinklin with two homers and Marion Apple with one. Sales Tax Examiner Carroll Davidson was umpire.

In other contests, Jack Roberts won the race for boys from 10 to 12 years old and Noel Morrison the 6 to 8-year-old race. Ted Watt was first in the all-age race.

The egg-throwing contest was won by F. J. Fox and Luther J. Mitchell, Mrs. Cora McCleary, the nail-driving contest for women and Mrs Frances Lessig, the balloon-blowing event for women. James E. Reed won the men's balloon event. In the running race for fat men, Carl H Lehner outdistanced other contestants.

Committees arranging the outing included refreshments, Harold Thomas, chairman, Mrs Dorothy Pluchel, Mrs. Maryanna Stafford, Mrs Idella Heminger, Mrs. Ted Brownlee, Mrs. Margaret Howard, Carl Sifritt, transportation, W W. Johnson and Walter Fetter, entertainment, A. L. Watt, James Sloan and W. S. Guthrie.

REAL ESTATE BOARDS MAKE INNOCENT PLEA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—The National Association of Real Estate boards and the Washington Real Estate board pleaded innocent today to a federal indictment charging violation of the anti-trust laws.

The indictment announced last week charges the two boards conspired to fix commission rates for real estate dealers in the District of Columbia.

William E Leahy, counsel for the Washington board, and Roger J Whiteford, attorney for the NAREB, were granted permission by Federal Judge Jennings Bailey to withdraw the plea and file an additional plea or other motion by Oct 15.

The government also has filed a civil anti-trust suit against the two real estate organizations, executive vice-president Herbert U Nelson of the NAREB, and 15 members and directors of the Washington board.

The civil suit asks that provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the NAREB and the Washington board which require or permit uniform commission fees be declared in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The criminal indictment of the two organizations followed an order by Attorney General Tom Clark for the justice department's anti-trust division to track down and prosecute any conspiracies to maintain or boost the prices of food, clothing and housing.

INDIANS MAY PASS 1 1-2 MILLION MARK

Tonight's Game Should Swell Attendance Past That Figure.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4 — The Cleveland Indians play their last night game of the season in the Lakefront stadium against the Chicago White Sox tonight, and several thousand Veterans of Foreign Wars delegates should swell the crowd sufficiently to boost the Tribe's home attendance past the 1,500,000 mark.

On hand last night when the Indians and White Sox divided a twilight-night doubleheader were 23,691 fans, raising home attendance to 1,477,205 against a 1946 record of 1,057,289 for the entire season

Bob Lemon, the righthander who has won seven for the Tribe since his first starting assignment in late July, is pitted against Ed Lopat in tonight's game.

Orval Grove, gangling righthander for the White Sox, scattered six hits to beat the Indians, 8-3, in the opener last night. Joe Gordon pounded a second-inning homer into left field seats with Ken Keltner on first, his 26th round-tripper, bringing him within one smash of Ted Williams' league leading total.

Les Fleming accounted for Cleveland's other run with a seventh-inning homer.

The Tribe won, 6-5, with a ninth-inning rally in the second game Hank Edwards, who homered in the first frame, tripled in the tying run and came in with the winning marker on Hal Peck's single with one away. Rudy York slammed his 19th homer for the White Sox in the fifth with one aboard.

Manager Lou Boudreau singled in the second game to break a string of 14 times at bat without a safety.

Howison Asks for Crowd Of 5,000 at First Game

A drive to make the first Harding home football game a sell-out was launched at Harding stadium last night.

A program designed to create interest in the coming season was featured by intra-squad play of the Harding team, introduction of the coaching staff of Harding and the junior high schools, and the music of the Harding band.

Asks Crowd of 5,000

Coach William A. "Pete" Howison, in a brief address, told all persons present that the team was going to win ball games this year. He asked for an opening night's crowd of 5,000.

Other coaches introduced were Kenny Somerlot, assistant football coach and new head basketball coach; George Keel, assistant football coach; Howard Thomas, line coach; Darl Gatchel, Vernon coach; John Luginbuhl, Central coach, and George Whitehead, Edison coach

Probably the sensation of the intra-squad activity was the sophomore squad The scrappy group of youngsters worked in smooth co-ordination, giving the Harding second squad a very rough time in first play of the night The seconds, after being pushed around through the opening minutes of the scrimmage, dug in and finally held their own. After their encounter with the sophs they tangled with the first squad and gave them opposition.

Smith Is Standout

Clarence Smith, junior fullback, was probably the individual standout Living up to expectations, he scooted 75 yards for one of the varsity's scores and shook off practically the complete second team in advancing more than 25 yards for another.

Another junior, Tom Taylor, playing for the seconds, also showed latent talent in snagging six of seven passes that were thrown his way. Ray Phillians, who did the tossing, showed calmness under pressure. Taylor's performance caused him to be considered for an offensive end post with the squad.

Many of the other Prexies showed up well and Coach Howison is contemplating running various combinations in and out of the ball games this season.

First String Squad

Three other boys, who are expected to fill front line posts, were benched because of injuries. They are tackle Bob Ralston, who has a pulled shoulder tendon, end Fred Lacey, with a broken finger, and back Dick Huddle, with a throat infection Ralph Hogan is another Prexy on the sick list.

BLACKWELL COASTS TO 21ST VICTORY

Beats Pirates, 13-6; Kluszewski To Get Another Chance.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4—Ted Kluszewski, former Indiana university athletic luminary, next week gets another crack at his major league weakness, a curving baseball as served up by big-time pitchers.

The big first baseman currently batting .382 for Memphis of the Southern association, was among 15 players recalled from the minor leagues by the Cincinnati club yesterday, a short time before the Reds clubbed out a 13-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game. Ewell Blackwell loafed to his 21st victory, striking out 12 as he let the Bucs have 10 base knocks

Kluszewski will join the Reds in Cincinnati next Tuesday.

Paced by catcher Ray Lamanno who drove in three runs with three hits, including a double and a triple, the Reds battered three Pittsburgh pitchers for 12 safeties here last night. Starter Kirby Higbe, who failed to survive the second inning, was the loser

Eddie Miller and Benny Zientara each hit two-run homers for the Reds while Ralph Kiner and Billy Cox smashed circuit drives for Pittsburgh.

The Yankees turned loose all their batting power against the Red Sox, who were still fanning a faint pennant spark before the double loss. But after the New York crew paddled Sox pitching for a total of 34 hits in 11-2 and 9-6 victories, the last hope vanished.

Bobo Newsom, who becomes increasingly important in the Yankee scheme of things with Spud Shandler probably out for the year, picked up his 10th win behind the 18-single assault on Hughson and his gang in the opener.

Shea Needs Relief

Frank Shea registered his first victory since July 5 in the second tilt but required relief from Joe Page making his 47th appearance of the year.

As a result of the double win, the Yanks' lead measured 12½ games with only 22 to play prompting the front office to announce that applications would be accepted for World Series tickets

By The Associated Press

Newark was within half a game of fifth place Dayton today after twin victories over the Indians Wednesday night, 5-3 and 6-4.

Relief Pitcher Don Bayliss of Newark gave up only two hits in eight innings of the nightcap.

Lima's four run rally in the wild 13th provided a one run margin and the Terriers defeated Richmond, 11-10 at Richmond.

Jim Grimes' triple sent two Lima runs home in the 13th This was followed by two walks and a single that scored two more runners. Richmond came back with three runs on four hits in the final half frame, still one run short.

The leading Zanesville Dodgers went into the ninth with a 3-1 lead over the Springfield Giants at Springfield, but came out on the short end, 4-3.

Billy Scally's single scored two Springfield runners, and he went home on first baseman Potpinka's error. Scally also homered in the fourth for the Giants' first run.

SETS PACING RECORD

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS Sept. 4 — Knight Dean, a bay colt, held a new world's record for two-year-old pacers in two heats today after winning the $29 519 rich Fox stake at the Indiana state fair Franklin Safford reined the Armstrong and Gray, Providence, R. I., entry around the mile in 2 01 2/5 and 2 01 3/5, to cut two full seconds from the 4 05 record set by Jimmy Creed in 1944 at Lexington, Ky.

MUNCIE EDGES CUBS AGAIN, 6-5

Special to The Star

MUNCIE, Sept 4—Muncie won its seventh straight game here Wednesday night, defeating the Marion Cubs, 6-5.

Elmo Comotti, making his second start for Muncie since reporting last Saturday from Providence of the class 'B' New England league, hurled the entire game, as did Jitts Lawrence for the Cubs. However, both twirlers were treated roughly along the route.

Muncie got off to a second inning 1-0 lead when Bob Montag hit his tenth home run of the season over the 340-foot right field wall then the Packers added three more tallies in the third on three hits, a walk and two outfield errors.

Cubs Get Going

Leading 5-0 in the sixth, Comotti ran into hot water J. Smith doubled and went to third on Maxhimer's single and scored when Rasmussen forced Maxhimer at second Manager Nelson Burbrink tripled down the right field line, to score Rasmussen

The Cubs made two more runs in the eighth on a walk, another triple by Burbrink, plus a bingle by Shuford

Bruin Left Stranded

In the ninth, Hollingshead singled to center, and scored on a double by J Smith With the bases full and two out, Shuford grounded out to the Muncie first baseman to end the game.

The game was highlighted by constant bickering between the players and umpires Conrad and O'Grady. The Marion players protested long and loud in the Muncie fifth after Plate Umpire Conrad ruled Howard Locke, Packer second baseman safe at the plate on a close play

The teams will meet at 8 tonight in the third game of the series

Davis, Blanchard Look Sick as Pros Whip Stars, 21-0

Former Army Wrecking Twins Find They're Playing with Big Boys Now

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—The divorce is final now for Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside—Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard—and the best you can say about their farewell fling on a football field is that it was too late coming.

Army's famed gridiron wrecking twins put on their finale as the highly-touted one-two punch of the eastern college All-Stars against the New York professional Giants in the ninth annual clambake of this series in the Polo grounds last night. But the only wrecking that was done was on the persons of B. and D. in particular and the All-Stars in general, as the Giants rolled up the most lop-sided decision of the series, 21-0.

B. and D. should have rested on their Army record. Blanchard found out he was in a different league now—playing with the big boys—and most of the time he was in there he was wearing a couple of the Giants as a lavalliere. Davis set off some minor sparks with a 25-yard runback of the opening kickoff and a 14-yard return of a punt. But just when he looked as if he might clear on the latter, his trick knee acted up again and he fell on his face and was carried from the field after 7¾ minutes of play.

Last Fling

That was their last fling, briefly, before they got on with their soldiering for Uncle Sam. Only in the fading moments, when Don Kasprzak, late of Columbia, pitched them to the Giant 10-yard line as the last whistle blew, did they set off any real fireworks.

By that time, half of the seats in the Polo grounds were empty. And half of the 52,102 customers, who made it a record crowd for this series, were on the way home. It was that dull a ball game. And the officials didn't help it any with enough horn-blowing to make it sound like a brass band in a jive session.

In the final quarter, Frank Reagan, who used to do practically everything for Pennsylvania football teams, started pitching, and Jerry Blumenstock, who used to take opposing lines apart for Fordham, started to slice up the All-Star forward wall.

Produce Final Touchdown

The combination produced the final touchdown, with Blumenstock going the last 14 yards on a flip from Reagan. In the third quarter a 17-yard pass from Jerry Niles, ex-of-Iowa, to George Franck, former Minnesota stepper, topped off another 60-yard touchdown push.

Actually, these were just icing on the cake, though. The game was on ice 2 minutes and 20 seconds after it started. A pass from center, on the All-Star 20, got away from fullback Ed Allen of Penn and rolled into the end zone. Allen chased it and ran past it. Big Jim White, one-time Notre Dame tackle, came zipping up to fall on it for the touchdown.

Allen explained that he was confused by the location of the goal posts in this ball park. He thought it was the same as on his college field, where they're 10 yards back of the goal line. Thus a ball rolling past them would be out of the end zone and an automatic touchback.

Mantz Records New Air Mark

Crosses Country, East to West, in 7 Hours and 4 Seconds.

By The Associated Press

BURBANK, Calif., Sept. 4—Paul Mantz, at 42 one of the nation's hottest pilots, hurtled across the nation in 7 hours and 4 seconds yesterday to establish a new transcontinental east-west speed record.

He streaked from LaGuardia field, New York, to Lockheed air terminal here in the fastest time ever recorded for that trip by a propellor-driven plane.

It was the same bright red souped-up P-51 Mustang fighter in which he won the Bendix race from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland last Saturday at an average of 460.423 miles an hour and the Bendix in 1946.

The movie stunt flyer swooped down low past the control tower here at 4:26:04 p. m. (P.S.T.) yesterday at around 500 miles an hour, catching everybody unaware except Larry Therkelsen, national aeronautic association timer. Mantz' radio had gone dead so he couldn't advise the waiting group of his exact arrival time.

He grinned as he told reporters he had almost run out of fuel.

Flying by way of Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Albuquerque, N. M., he said he encountered headwinds ranging from 20 to 70 miles an hour nearly all the way but averaged about 371 miles an hour for the 2,600-mile trip.

His record shaved off 27 minutes, 56 seconds off the previous east-west record set Aug. 1, 1946, by an Army B-29 piloted by Capt. Boyd L. Grubaugh, Van Wert, O.

Mantz also holds the west-east record of 6 hours, 7 minutes for propellor-driven planes but a jet-propelled Lockheed P-80 set a mark for all types of aircraft of 4 hours, 13 minutes, 26 seconds in January, 1946.

Driver Fined $100, Rights Are Suspended

Dean Noblet, 46, of 808 East Center street, was fined $100 and his driving license was suspended for three years by municipal court today when he pleaded guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested yesterday at 8:15 a. m. on Delaware avenue after the car he was driving collided with a car whose driver was not identified. According to the police report, he was going south on Delaware avenue when he hit a northbound car with his left front fender and wheel. Driver of the northbound car failed to stop after the accident. The Noblet car was removed to McDaniel's garage with damage to the left front fender and wheel.

Marion's Roughest Battle Royal Tonite

Without a doubt tonight's battle royal at the armory will be the roughest ever seen here. Five of the roughest men in the country will take part. They are Pavo Ketonen, the rough Finn who on two former appearances had the fans on his neck, Dutch Schultz who always hands out plenty of punishment, Rufus Jones the colored boy, who can be counted on for plenty of roughness, Gil LaCross, the Bostonian, who don't live up to the reputation of that city and Martino Angelo, the barefooted bully from Canada. All four men have appeared here many times in the past year with the exception of Angelo who just returned from the Pacific coast where he held the Pacific coast championship belt for two years. A prelim will start things going at 8:30. No advance in prices for this oustanding program. Call 2745 after six for the best ringside.—Adv.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was a wary look in Mary's eyes as she finished her diatribe, and I knew that she was extremely uncertain as to the way the former Princess Olina of Transvania would react to it.

But when I saw Olina's face and eyes, with the look of a soldier recalled to action by a bugle call, I knew Mary had not failed.

There was so much sincerity in her slangy appeal that I knew Olina had been impressed by it. And Mary's histrionism had invested her imagined appeal from Georges with such reality that I was sure Olina was hearing her sweetheart's voice uttering the words.

"You — you really believe Georges would want me to try that role?" she asked. "Even if I should break down in it?"

"Of course I believe it!" Mary retorted. "Look here, Lina, how in the hinges of the hot place could you break down playing a harp? You've done it all your life; it's second nature to you. And Aunt Madge will see that you don't have many lines to speak. We don't want to risk an understudy's rendition of many lines."

"An understudy?" Olina echoed, as if she still were dazed. "Oh, yes, you did say I could get away if Georges should send for me.'

Meant It

"Of course I said it—and meant it too," Mary told her. "The second you hear a whistle from Georges—wolf, or any other kind—just summon your understudy, give her the high sign, and start packing your duffle bag."

The last traces of uncertainty vanished from Olina's face.

"I fancy I've been a pretty poor sport," she said. "And if you still want me, I'll be glad to do anything I can in the new play—that is, until Georges sends for me—if that ever happens."

"Those two 'ifs' are pure corn." Mary told her emphatically. "Of course I want you, and, equally of course, Georges is going to send for you, unless he gets a lucky break and comes after you."

Olina choked, and her eyes, for an instant, were misty. But her training held, and her voice was steady when she answered Mary's warm assurances.

"Thank you, Mary," was all she said, but the three words were packed with gratitude and affection.

"And I also thank you, my dear daughter, more than any words can tell you," Olga said, rising and crossing to Mary's side. She stooped and kissed her, and then her stately figure straightened, and her eyes went from Katharine's face to mine.

"Thank you both, so much, for letting us have this little visit with Mary," she said. "But we mustn't abuse our privilege, and we will go now. Please let us know when we may come again."

"It will be just as soon as I get my next breathing spell from studying my lines," Mary told her with an affectionate smile, characteristically not waiting for either Katharine's verdict or mine.

Contrite Look

Then her own training registered, and she looked contritely at both of us.

"There I go again!" she said ruefully. "Broadcasting out of turn! Please forgive me, both of you! You're the ones to say when I can see Mother and Lina again."

I put the answer up to Katharine, with a gesture of my hand, and she smiled at Mary.

"You're forgiven, Infant," she assured her.

Then she turned to Olga.

"You have priorities," she said; "you, your husband, and your daughter, ranking right after Noel. I'm going to watch this lady very carefully for a day or two, to see that she doesn't overtax her strength. After that, she'll be on her own, and issue her own invitations. But in the meantime, you may be very sure that the welcome sign is on the doormat for you whenever it is advisable for us to put it out."

"Thank you," Olga said, with sincere gratitude in her regal voice. "Will it interfere with your schedule if we telephone now and again to see if the welcome sign is on the doormat?"

"Please do not mistake my meaning," she added hurriedly. "We shall not telephone again today, for I know that Mary has a heavy schedule of study ahead of her, and she will want a long visit with Noel at dinner time. But tomorrow?"

The word lingered tentatively on the air until Katharine answered it with decision.

Tomorrow All Right

"Tomorrow, certainly," she said. "Shall I give you the word when Her Majesty is ready to receive?"

"If you will, please," said the woman who for so many years had carried the title in earnest.

And then the door closed upon the two, while Mary looked after them with a curiously appraising glance.

"Poor Lina!" she said. "I wonder if she'll ever get it through her head that Georges can't stand too much syrup on his cereal. He likes a touch of lemon juice and spice mixed with the sweet."

PLAN ASHLEY PROGRAM

ASHLEY — The Ashley Youth Fellowship groups met Aug. 28 and planned the first two meetings of the fall season. Among other things, the idea of having their own opening program for church school, separate from the other classes, was discussed and met with much approval. This will be tried out in the coming Sundays. Rev. H. L. Borden was in charge of the meeting.

GET THIS, LAURA — IT'S A WOW. THE LOS ANGELES LIMITED WASN'T TEN MINUTES OUT OF THE CHICAGO STATION WHEN A SWEET LITTLE OLD LADY NOTICED A MAN ACROSS THE AISLE WHOSE HEAD WAS BURIED IN HIS HANDS AND WHOSE SHOULDERS SHOOK WITH PAROXYSMS OF SORROW
HER MOTHERLY INSTINCT PROMPTED HER TO CONSOLE THE MAN, BUT SHE RESTRAINED HERSELF. ALL THAT DAY AND THE DAY AFTER SHE WATCHED HIM SNIFFLE INTO HIS HANDKERCHIEF. ON THE THIRD MORNING SHE COULD STAND IT NO LONGER
"MY POOR BOY," SHE SAID AS SHE PATTED HIM ON THE SHOULDER. "MAYBE IF YOU TELL ME WHAT IS BREAKING YOUR HEART IT WILL MAKE YOU FEEL BETTER." THE YOUNG MAN LOOKED UP AND WRUNG HIS HANDS. "FOR THREE DAYS NOW," HE SOBBED, "I'VE BEEN ON THE WRONG TRAIN."
WELL, I DON'T SEE WHY THEY DIDN'T STOP HIM AT THE GATE INSTEAD OF LETTING HIM GET ON THE WRONG TRAIN. RAILROADS ARE GETTING AWFULLY CARELESS THESE DAYS
